TPEA honors Livingston with Administrator of the Year Award

In June, the Texas Public Employees Association (TPEA) honored Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) Executive Director Brad Livingston, Texas Department of Transportation Director Phil Wilson and State Senator Tommy Williams (R-The Woodlands), for their successful efforts to ensure fair treatment for state employees, as well as their skilled management of some of the largest state agencies in Texas. The awards were presented during the TPEA Annual Delegates Meeting held in Austin.

“These leaders addressed the funding deficiencies in the state pension plan and in state employee salaries, which have remained stagnant for five years,” said TPEA Executive Director Gary Anderson. “Making the Employees Retirement System pension actuarially sound is critical – not only for future retirees but also for current retirees to receive any future increase in annuities.” Anderson added, “In the end, our state leaders, particularly our honorees, showed commitment to preserving our government’s infrastructure that is our state workforce.”

Livingston was recognized as Agency Administrator of the Year for the third time. ●
