AUDIT FINDINGS

NARRATIVE:

The PREA Audit of the William P. Hobby/Marlin Complex was conducted from March 25, 2015 through March 27, 2015. Alton Baskerville, Lead Certified PREA Auditor, James Allen, Certified PREA Auditor, and Valerie Tennesen, Auditor, conducted the audit of the complex.

The Audit Team wishes to express our appreciation to Warden Vikki Wright and her staff for the hospitality, cooperation and professionalism they showed throughout the audit. In addition, the Audit Team wishes to thank Director Lori Davis, Director Eric Guerro and PREA State Manager Cassandra McGilbra for their support of the Unit which was critical to resolving issues during the audit.

On March 24, 2015, the Audit team met and had dinner with Warden Wright and her executive staff. On March 25, 2015, the Audit Team arrived at the Hobby Unit for the Entrance Meeting in Warden Wright’s office. The team met with Warden Wright, Assistant Warden Markum, Major Jameson and Major Akwitti to review the schedule for the audit.

After the meeting, we began a thorough tour of the unit. The unit was clean and had a lot of activity on the compound. There was good interaction between the offenders and the staff. The offenders had knowledge of PREA requirements and had confidence in the reporting process. A large number of offenders interviewed stated they felt safe and that staff honored their rights. The housing units had adequate security and appropriate privacy in the restrooms. Male officers announced their presence prior to entering the housing units.

The laundry restroom procedure needed to be revised to ensure better privacy and control. Corrective action was taken. The offender restroom in the Maintenance Department did not lock, and it had tape over the locking mechanism. A follow-up inspection showed corrective action was taken. The offender restroom in the Print Shop did not have adequate privacy from employees of the opposite gender. Corrective action was taken to put up a petition inside the half wall of the restroom that provided privacy and security for the offenders. Corrective action was completed within 24 hours.

The Lead Auditor received the written PREA Compliance Coordinator Interview response from William Stephens, Director of the Correctional Institutions Division and Compliance Coordinator. The Audit Team interviewed at least one offender from each housing unit. Interviewees were randomly selected by the auditors from a list of all the offenders in the facility. 21 offenders were interviewed including those in a designated group (e.g. disabled, limited English speaking ability, gay, etc.). 24 randomly selected correctional officers and 27 other identified specialized staff were interviewed, including the Warden, PREA Manager, Investigator, first responders, healthcare providers, mental health professionals, contractors and a volunteer. A total of 72 interviews were conducted.

After completion of the on-site audit, the Audit Team conducted an exit meeting on March 27, 2015. In addition to Warden Wright and her staff, Mayor Elizabeth Nelson and City Manager Dick Fletcher were present at the exit meeting. The Audit Team gave an overview of its findings and thanked everyone for their cooperation. The Audit Team found Hobby/Marlin Unit to be in full compliance of the PREA Prisons and Jail Standards.
